Office of Counseling and Accessibility Services	The Office of Counseling and Accessibility Services operates under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) laws in order to assist in leveling the playing field for students who have disabilities with those who do not. Students choosing to access disability support services should contact the Coordinator as soon as possible after acceptance to AMSC. Please be aware that late notifications may result in complications for establishing accommodation in a timely fashion.

Withdrawal	Withdrawal from a course is solely the responsibility of the student. Instructors will not initiate student withdrawals. A student who wishes to withdraw from a course MUST submit a completed Withdrawal Form (Schedule Reductions Form) to the Registrar's Office before mid-term in order to receive a grade of "W" for the course. A student who withdraws after the Midterm date receives a "WF" unless the Vice President for Academic Affairs determines that it is a hardship case, then a "W" will be recorded. The possibility that a student may fail the course will not be considered a hardship
Incomplete Grade Policy	An incomplete may be awarded at the instructor's discretion for non-academic reasons which prevent the student from completing the course requirements. The student must be passing the course at the time that the Incomplete is awarded and must sign an "Awarding of Incomplete" agreement. Unless otherwise stated, the incomplete should be removed by the end of the following semester; otherwise, the instructor will change the grade to an "F" grade.
Time Commitment	To successfully complete this course it requires discipline, devoted time and commitment. A student must arrange his / her schedule to allow for the required time for this course. Expect to spend a minimum of seven (7) to ten (10) hours per week to thoroughly read each chapter and complete the required chapter assignments. Additional time most likely will be required to complete quizzes and exams.
Student Expectations	Students are expected to be fully invested and engaged in their learning. The following guidelines are included to facilitate your course success. • Participate in this course by following the guidelines of this syllabus and any additional information the instructor provides by email, telephone, discussion forums, etc. • Please speak with your instructor in advance if you have extenuating circumstances that prevent you from completing your assignments by the designated due dates. If a medical emergency occurs, you will need to provide a written medical / doctor's notice for the period in which you are unable to participate in class or complete any of the assignments (discussion, case studies, quizzes, exams, etc.). Without a medical / doctor's notice, all assignments missed will be scored as zero. • Sign-in to Brightspace D2L and / or Courseware to complete assignments regularly. • Read, study, and complete all assignments by the due dates. Late assignments will NOT be accepted one week after the due date. • Monitor Brightspace D2L course calendar. • Have access to a computer and the Internet. Make certain your computer meets the technical requirements for the course. • Be courteous, polite and respectful to faculty, staff and fellow students.

Online Discussion Protocol	• The purpose of the discussion forum is to have interactive online discussions with our class community about specific topics, assignments, or readings. • Be constructive and positive. You can challenge ideas and course content yet avoid becoming negative online. When you disagree respectfully and politely, you stimulate and encourage great discussion. • You are expected to conduct yourself in a mature, courteous, and mutually respectful manner. • Always sign your name. • Postings should be well written with proper punctuation, spelling and grammar. Avoid the use of all caps or multiple punctuation elements (!!!??). • Check postings for responses from others and respond in kind. • Postings should be evenly distributed throughout the week. Avoid making only weekend postings. • Encourage further discussion by building on current threads. The instructor may not respond to every post but will be monitoring each discussion. A response may be made to contribute to a discussion, clarify a situation or redirect the conversation.
Degree Relevance and Enrollment Status	Students are ultimately responsible for ensuring that the course(s) in which they enroll are included in the approved degree plan and program map for their program of study. Students must periodically check their enrollment status in this course during the semester. The student is responsible for determining changes, if any in enrollment status and taking necessary steps (e.g. pursuing re-instatement in this course) following those outlined in the AMSC catalog
Abandoning a Course	Abandoning a course should be avoided at all costs. Abandoning a course instead of following official drop procedures will result in a grade of —F at the end of the course. It is the student's responsibility to initiate and complete the withdrawal process.
Academic Honesty	Only the epitome of professionalism is expected of each student. Cheating or the abetment of cheating is not tolerated. Per page 91-93 of the 2019-2020 Atlanta Metropolitan State College Catalog the Penalties for Academic Misconduct states: • In cases where a student is found guilty of cheating or exhibiting academic misconduct involving an instructor-generated assignment or examination, the instructor may impose a penalty. • Types of penalties may include, but are not limited to, the instructor assigning a grade of "F" for the assignment, the instructor not accepting the work, the student being assigned additional work, or the student receiving a grade reduction for the assignment. • Cheating/Plagiarism: A student guilty of cheating and/or plagiarism will receive a score of 0 for the assignment in question. Second case will be reported to the department with possible suspension and expulsion from the college. • Examples include, but are not limited to the following: a. The unauthorized use of notes on an exam or class project. b. Plagiarizing on a paper or class exercise. c. Taking or procuring or attempting to take or obtain unauthorized copies of exams. d. The taking, or modifying, of the instructor's grade book. e. Copying from another student's exam, test, or other required exercise. f. Communication with another student during an exam or test. • This policy is outlined in the Student Handbook. Each student is encouraged to familiarize him/herself with the outline set forth by this institution. However, if you are caught plagiarizing or cheating you can expect at a minimum a zero (0) on the assignment and be reported to the Honor Council. Academic dishonesty may result in a failure (F) in the course. GMC takes this violation very seriously, if you are caught plagiarizing twice in your academic career here, you could be expelled from the school. • http://plagiarism.org/ • https://instr.iastate.libguides.com/understanding_plagiarism The maximum penalty the instructor may impose is a grade of “F” for the course.

AI Statement	The use of artificial intelligence (AI) tools and applications (including, but not limited to, ChatGPT, DALL-E, and others) for course assignments and assessments will be used on a limited basis. It will be used as a reference tool ONLY. Use other than as a reference tool does not support the learning objectives of this course and is prohibited. Using them in any way for this course is a violation of the course’s expectations and will be addressed through AMSC academic misconduct policy.
Academic Writing Style	Hegel presents the dialectic as a three-part structure consisting of a thesis, an antithesis, and a synthesis. The first idea, the thesis, is a formal statement illustrating a point; it is followed by the second idea, the antithesis, that contradicts or negates the thesis, then comes the synthesis which combines the two with a new thought. In human history, when the status quo (the thesis) is challenged by a new historical development or force (the antithesis), a new form of life emerges out of the synthesis of the two prior stages.
Changes to This Syllabus:	The instructor reserves the right to make changes to this syllabus. Any substantive changes which impact grade calculations or grading will be announced in writing using Moodle and will be emailed to the class. If you have concerns about announced changes, please contact the instructor and ask for clarification before the end of the semester.
Class Cancellation	Procedure regarding long-term emergency closure of the college (attendance policy): In the event of an emergency that forces the college to close for an extended period, students must contact the instructor of this class within 48 hours using the contact information (e.g., email address in BrightSpace/D2L) on the syllabus to obtain directions for continuing the course. The instructor will provide directions for the transmission and submission of course assignments and course assessments, including due dates. The student is responsible for submitting valid, accurate contact information, including an active AMSC email address to the instructor by the end of the first week of the course. Students can obtain an Atlanta Metropolitan State College Student email address in the Academic Support Center on the third floor of the Library Building. If the instructor for the course cannot be reached within the specified period (within 48 hours), the Dean of the School responsible for the course can be reached at the email address posted on the college’s website

SAMPLE ESSAY QUESTION ANSWER

QUESTION: The fifteenth and sixteenth century voyages of exploration produced lasting changes in the political and social structure of Western Europe. Would you say that these voyages tended to hasten or to delay the growth of national states? Explain.

The student jotted down thoughts that occurred while reading the prompt. Then, the thoughts were numbered to show order of use as well as related ideas. (A memorized prepared outline can also be jotted down in the margin or on the blue book cover.)

2--competition between countries led to nationalism
3--no need for other countries for trade (Italy)
2b--minerals (coffee, spice, etc.)
2a--wanted money and land
1--war
2c--Cortez and Aztecs

A GOOD ANSWER

Often starts with a direct answer to the question → The exploration of the 15th and 16th centuries hastened the growth of national states. The reasons have to do with war, wealth, trade, and nationalism.

Pre-outlines the topics in order →

Starts with one of the reasons → One of the prime ingredients for the beginning of national states was a common danger from outside. Because countries went to war over the right to control certain colonies and trade routes, each country had to unite within in order to fight off any aggressor.

Transition → Other forms of competition between countries contributed to the growth of national states. Competition for land and wealth was fierce. The resources of the new lands, such as coffee, spices, minerals, were considered valuable. Each country was eager to gain land because the products of the land could be turned into more wealth, [as when Cortez conquered the Aztecs and exploited their gold and silver.] A united country could best succeed in this form of competition.

Specifies given →

Phrase added here to show relevance of the point to the question →

Identifying a major institution of the time which was a key factor in development of national states → These resources, brought about by new discoveries, increased the power of mercantilism. Mercantilism is a system in which the mother country takes from its colonies raw materials and sells them back in the form of finished products. This allows the mother country to keep economic control over the colonies. With the opening of new trade routes, the Northern and Western European states were able to break the Venetian-Arab trade monopoly with the Indies. The colonization led to a system involving a state-controlled market between the colony and the mother country. This permitted the nations of Europe to become economically separate units with no common market existing between them—a condition which fostered nationalism. It is interesting to note that Italy, which did little exploration, took longer to become a united nation than did the other countries of Europe.

Adds an afterthought to make sure the relation of the point to the question is clear →

Amplifies with an example Italy →

Transition → Another feature in producing national states was the national pride these voyages tended to produce. [The voyages were financed by a national government. Any new discovery was seen as reflecting the prestige of the sponsoring government and its people, and this added pride contributed to the spirit of nationalism.]

A new point which came to mind during the writing of this answer →

A POOR ANSWER

(Teacher's comments)

Interesting, but what relevance does this have to the question?

But how does all this strengthen nationalism?

Very irrelevant

No reasons given. Only a conclusion is being stated.

Competition, wealth, trade, and pride are all suggested, but their relation to the development of nationalism is hard to see.

Please work on writing clarity. Grammatical errors obscure meaning. See SLAC or Writing Center.

The voyages of exploration is a rather ambiguous term because actually there was no sudden burst of interest in exploring the world around them—they just were looking for easier trade routes to the Orient. This so-called age of exploration if it was indeed exploring was quite by accident.

When the first countries colonized the "New World" every other country now wanted to get in on it. However, to make voyages in the first place, knowledge was needed in shipbuilding and navigation. Henry the Navigator bettered the conditions of European states by contributing to navigation, maps, etc. He also began a school for navigation. Great effort was now put forth to build more and more ships and for each country to go and colonize for itself. An example of this would be when Spain started some colonies in the "New World," France, England, Holland, etc., started sending explorers and colonizers out.

So, the voyages of exploration didn't delay the growth of the national states. The voyages were all a part of the national states. The explorers who reached other lands claimed their find for their countries. These many voyages induced the growth of national states.

I think these voyages of exploration bound a nation together. The reason for this is that anything a group of people do together, and this was done by a whole country not just its leaders, tend to unite them. Many times newly discovered lands brought great wealth to the mother country and new places for people to settle and raise families. Then when trading was carried out with the newly found places, this again helped to unite the nation. People were also united in a common cause, this being to beat other countries to these places, for trade and colonization. The lands that were claimed, and the prestige and trade that followed these voyages, affected all the people of the country and make it stronger and richer.
