

Current Student Employment

AMSC offers the opportunity to work on campus to students with demonstrated financial need. Every student offered a student employment award will be provided an opportunity to work at an on or off-campus job. Total earnings will depend on the total number of hours worked, up to the amount of the award. Students may choose to have earnings deposited into a bank account. In many cases, your need-based work study will be included as part of the financial aid necessary to cover the cost of attendance at AMSC. In some cases, students may wish to use their student employment earnings to help with indirect costs (such as books, transportation and other miscellaneous expenses). Students are not guaranteed to earn the full amount of their work award. Once a student is placed into a position, it is their responsibility to work with their supervisor to arrange hours. Students are limited to their work award. Once a student reaches their limit, they will no longer be eligible for student employment in that academic year. For questions about how student employment is a part of your financial aid please contact your financial aid counselor.
